

Don Williams Currents March, 1992

Currents was released on March 10, 1992, and became the last album Don Williams would record for RCA Records. The album takes its title from the many songs, such as "Catfish Bates," "That Song About the River," and "Standing Knee Deep In A River," that use water as a metaphor or setting. The trio of albums Williams recorded for RCA is still revered as some of his best material to date.

Don Williams Currents March, 1992

Song Title: Only Water (Shining In the Air)

Album Title: Currents

Release Date: March, 1992

Producer: Allen Reynolds

Songwriter: Hugh Prestwood

Song Title: Too Much Love

Album Title: Currents

Release Date: March, 1992

Producer: Allen Reynolds

Songwriters: Roger Cook/Roger Greenaway

Song Title: That Song About the River

Album Title: Currents

Release Date: March, 1992

Producer: Allen Reynolds

Songwriters: Steve Gillette/Charles John Quarto

Song Title: Catfish Bates

Album Title: Currents

Release Date: March, 1992

Producer: Allen Reynolds

Songwriter: Alex Harvey

Song Title: Back On the Street Again

Album Title: Currents

Release Date: March, 1992

Producer: Allen Reynolds

Songwriter: Steve Gillette

Song Title: So Far, So Good

Album Title: Currents

Release Date: March, 1992

Producer: Allen Reynolds

Songwriter: Troy Seals/Eddie Setser/Dobie Gray

Don Williams Currents March, 1992

Song Title: Gettin' Back Together Tonight
Album Title: Currents
Release Date: March, 1992
Producer: Allen Reynolds
Songwriter: Danny Flowers/Larry Willoughby

Song Title: In the Family
Album Title: Currents
Release Date: March, 1992
Producer: Allen Reynolds
Songwriters: John Richard Greenebaum/Eddie Setser/Dobie Gray

Song Title: Standing Knee Deep In the River
Album Title: Currents
Release Date: March, 1992
Producer: Allen Reynolds
Songwriter: Bob McDill/Dickey Lee/Bucky Jones

Song Title: Lone Star State Of Mind
Album Title: Currents
Release Date: March, 1992
Producer: Allen Reynolds
Songwriter: Fred Koller/Pat Alger/Gene Levine

Song Title: It's Who You Love
Album Title: Currents
Release Date: March, 1992
Producer: Allen Reynolds
Songwriter: Charlie Black/Kieran Kane/Rory Michael Bourke